These links will explain how to use the communication tools

WebCT Email - You will find that an email program is contained within this courseware. The email exchanged between you, your classmates and instructor will not take place in your personal email provider such as Hotmail or Yahoo accounts. By emailing within WebCT, you don't have to worry about losing any important emails from your class due to the filter settings on your personal email account. And, you don't have to worry about emails being rejected due to the space constraints of your inbox. Plus it saves you space in the mailbox of your personal provider.

Additional tools may be used in your class, including a quiz tool, assignment drop box, schedule, and live chat room - instructions for these will be posted in the 'instructor notices' portion of the discussion room. Please be sure to read the course syllabus as well as all available information posted in the discussion room when you first sign in, and remember to check the class communication links often for new messages.
