American Trivia KEY
(Notes are in italics after the answer)

Directions: Combine the sentences to make one sentence with an adjective clause OR take apart the sentence that contains an adjective clause and create two simple sentences.

1. George Washington was a man. He became the first president of the United States.

   George Washington was the man who became the first president of the United States.
   (Change “a” to “the” because the adjective clause makes “man” a specific noun.)

2. California is a state. Disneyland is located in it.

   California is the state in which Disneyland is located.
   (Change “a” to “the” because the adjective clause makes “state” a specific noun.)

3. The Academy Awards is a famous ceremony. We watched it last Sunday.

   The Academy Awards, which we watched last Sunday, is a famous ceremony.

4. The Cherokees were a tribe of people. They lived in Oklahoma.

   The Cherokees were a tribe of people who lived in Oklahoma.

5. Marilyn Monroe was the famous actress. Many people loved her.

   Marilyn Monroe was the famous actress whom many people loved.

6. Florida is the state in which Disney World is located.

   Florida is a state. Disney World is located in Florida.
   (Change “the” to “a” because “state” is general in the first sentence.)

7. Abraham Lincoln was the president who stopped slavery in the United States.

   Abraham Lincoln was a president. He stopped slavery in the United States.
   (Change “the” to “a” because “president” is general in the first sentence.)
8. Barack Obama is the president. The people elected him.

Barack Obama is the president whom the people elected.

9. The astronauts were the people from whom we got the first pictures of the moon.

The astronauts were people. We got the first pictures of the moon from them.