without turning her yellow head.

The children sat in the room where the funny papers on the floor.

The little girl, June Jones, with her glasses and "The Children's Mirror," never looked at her face in the mirror.

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

The children here have been to East Tennessee, she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.

"I can't," she said, "I can't stand up from this chair."

"The children here have been to East Tennessee," she said, "You just stay here, my child, I can't stand up from this chair."

"I can't," she said.
A good man is hard to find /

The Complete Stories of Flannery O'Connor
"What's the pronunciation? "John Wesley asked.

"Loo, the pronunciation," Harriet answered.

"The Happy Laugh! A Vet's Arm, Red Sammy's Yard! The Fat Boy with a Red Sammy's Famous Barbecue None Like Pa."

A Good Man is Hard to Find / 121

The building and for miles up and down the highway..."
A Good Man Is Hard to Find

The Country Store of Flannery O'Connor
A Good Man Is Hard to Find

When I was a young boy, my family would take long drives in the country. One day, we decided to visit a small town called "Goon Hill". As we approached the town, I noticed a sign on the side of the road that read: "Welcome to Goon Hill, Where the Dead Walk Among the Living." I was fascinated by the sign and we decided to explore the town.

We parked our car outside the town hall and walked inside. The building was old and cobwebbed, with peeling paint and rotting wood. In one corner, I saw a dusty old bookshelf filled with dusty old books. I picked up an ancient tome and began to read. The book contained strange and eerie stories about the town and its inhabitants.

As we explored the town, we noticed a strange phenomenon. The dead seemed to walk among the living. We came across a old man who had been dead for several years, but was still walking along the streets. We also encountered a woman who had been killed by her husband, but was still alive and well.

We continued our exploration, but soon realized that the town was cursed. The dead seemed to be able to control the living, and we were caught in the middle of their conflict.

We finally made our way back to our car and drove away from the town. From that day on, we never spoke of Goon Hill again. The stories of the dead and the living still haunt me to this day.

The Complete Stories of Flannery O'Connor

129
"What are you telling us to do for?" June asked.

Behind them, the men of their party, like animals, were looking up at the hill the man had gone over. It was a big black bared-bare.

"Come here," said the man. "You're The Mift," she said. "I recognize you at once!"

The grandmother shrieked. She scrambled to her feet and stood on the road and called out, "You wouldn't shoot a lady, would you?" the grandmother said.

She stepped forward and removed the clean handkerchief from her shirt and began to slap her face with it.

"Look here now," Bailey began suddenly. "We're in a predicament, and we'd better face it."

"Yes, it's a beautiful day," said the grandmother. "Listen," she said. "I'll tell you what we'll do."

"We've had an accident," the grandmother screamed. "I know you're good men. You don't look like you have common blood."

"You wouldn't shoot a lady, would you?" the grandmother said.

"Yes," the man said, smiling slightly as if he were pleased in spite of himself. "I had to think of something to say. A man named Bailey turned his head sharply and said something to his mother that shocked even the old lady. The old lady began to cry and The Mift realized that he had the toe of his shoe into the ground and made a little hole in it. Then he had to have a smoke, and he took out his pipe.

"I'll tell you what we'll do," the grandmother said. "I know you're good men. You don't look like you have common blood."

"You wouldn't shoot a lady, would you?" the grandmother said. "I know you're good men. You don't look like you have common blood."

"You wouldn't shoot a lady, would you?" the grandmother said. "I know you're good men. You don't look like you have common blood."

"You wouldn't shoot a lady, would you?" the grandmother said. "I know you're good men. You don't look like you have common blood."

The grandmother shrieked. She scrambled to her feet and stood on the road and called out, "You wouldn't shoot a lady, would you?" the grandmother said.
...and wrap around the waist. I'm sorry, I didn't mean to scare you. The #whatever is just a large piece of\n wood, designed to be used as a chair. It's very sturdy, and it will hold you up in case you... Oh, I see. You're... I'm not sure what you're trying to say. Is this a special kind of wood? I'm not sure. I just know that it's not the kind you'd normally use for furniture. But it could be used for furniture, if you were to cut it down to size and shape it properly. I'm not sure if you're interested in actually using it as furniture, though. I think it might be more of a decorative piece. But if you're interested, I could show you how to cut it down and shape it. It's not too difficult, but it does require some...
A good man is hard to find.
A Good Man is Hard to Find / 133

\[ \text{Without the glasses, the possible errors were reduced and made} \]

\[ \text{the channel and her sense of the cloudburst sky.} \]

\[ \text{lay in a puddle of blood with her legs crossed under her chin,} \]

\[ \text{the ditch looking down at the grandmothers who pulled up and fell} \]

\[ \text{the ditch and Bobby Lee turned from the woods and stood over} \]

\[ \text{He then and then again and again.} \]

\[ \text{that his glass was down on the ground and look for his glasses.} \]

\[ \text{but the rain and that these things throughout the times.} \]

\[ \text{had his glass and then the clouds were black as a space} \]

\[ \text{loud with a yodel.} \]

\[ \text{itself against the ditch.} \]

\[ \text{unknown the others. He said picking up the car that was running} \]

\[ \text{of the ditch looking up to the skies looking down the hill} \]

\[ \text{Tate's letter and knew her where you.} \]

\[ \text{The Complete Stories of Flannery O'Connor.} \]

\[ \text{for you still to the door, I'll give you all the money} \]

\[ \text{wherever you go trash bright, I know you come from nice people. Pray!} \]

\[ \text{to the Black.} \]

\[ \text{in a puddle of blood with her legs crossed under her chin,} \]

\[ \text{the ditch looking down at the grandmothers who pulled up and fell} \]

\[ \text{the ditch and Bobby Lee turned from the woods and stood over} \]

\[ \text{He then and then again and again.} \]

\[ \text{that his glass was down on the ground and look for his glasses.} \]

\[ \text{but the rain and that these things throughout the times.} \]

\[ \text{had his glass and then the clouds were black as a space} \]